Words of Wisdom

As no individual who shirks his community service can lay justifiable claim to being a well-rounded citizen, so no Rotary club of today which is indifferent to the welfare of the city in which it is established measures up to the stature of full-grown Rotary clubs.

TODAY'S PROGRAM

Ryan Kwiatkowski
George Mason University
Student-Athlete Scholarship Winner

Today's speaker was Ryan Kwiatkowski, this year's recipient of Vienna Rotary's student-athlete scholarship at George Mason University. Ryan, who plays varsity volleyball at GMU, was joined by Fred Chao, coach of the men's volleyball team at the university.

Together they helped educate Vienna Rotarians on the popularity of this growing sport.

Fred noted that volleyball "is the second largest sport in the world participation-wise," second only to soccer.

Ryan said that he played a number of sports while growing up in the Chicago area and that he started playing volleyball about eight years ago. He said he would like to play professional volleyball after graduating and that eventually he hopes to work in marketing and sales, which is also his major at JMU.
