TRIVIA

- Americans consume 10 billion donuts every twelve months.
- The first Siamese cat in the United States is reported to have been a gift to President Rutherford B. Hayes. In the early 1900's, a Siamese could cost more than $1,000---quite a lot of money in those days.
- There are lightning strikes somewhere on earth 100 times a second. And every time lightning strikes, it generates Ozone gas. This strengthens the Ozone Layer in the upper atmosphere.
- If you were to build a ship you would be better off with a type of rock known as volcanic pumice rather than Ironwood. It is less dense than water, so it can float.
- While both humans and alligators depend on their teeth in order to chew food, humans only get two sets of natural teeth to last them a lifetime. Alligators get from 2,000 to 3,000 teeth during the course of their lifetime.

The Rotary Foundation's Polio Eradication Project

"WHICH WAY IS OUT?" Makes no bones about the serious societal undercurrent it carries, but it doesn't shy away either from full-bodied wit and humor. Well-acted and involving, though moralizing and sentimental at times, the play's message of responsibility and commitment rings loud and clear.
